

How to Return to the WP Admin Navigation Sidebar

If your navigation sidebar has changed and you wish to revert to the usual Admin sidebar, these instructions are for you; if you also wish to continue using the WP Admin Classic Editor, then read on.

Go to account settings by clicking this link - <https://wordpress.com/me/account>
Scroll down the page until you reach Dashboard appearance and the words Show advanced dashboard pages.

Interface language

EN English

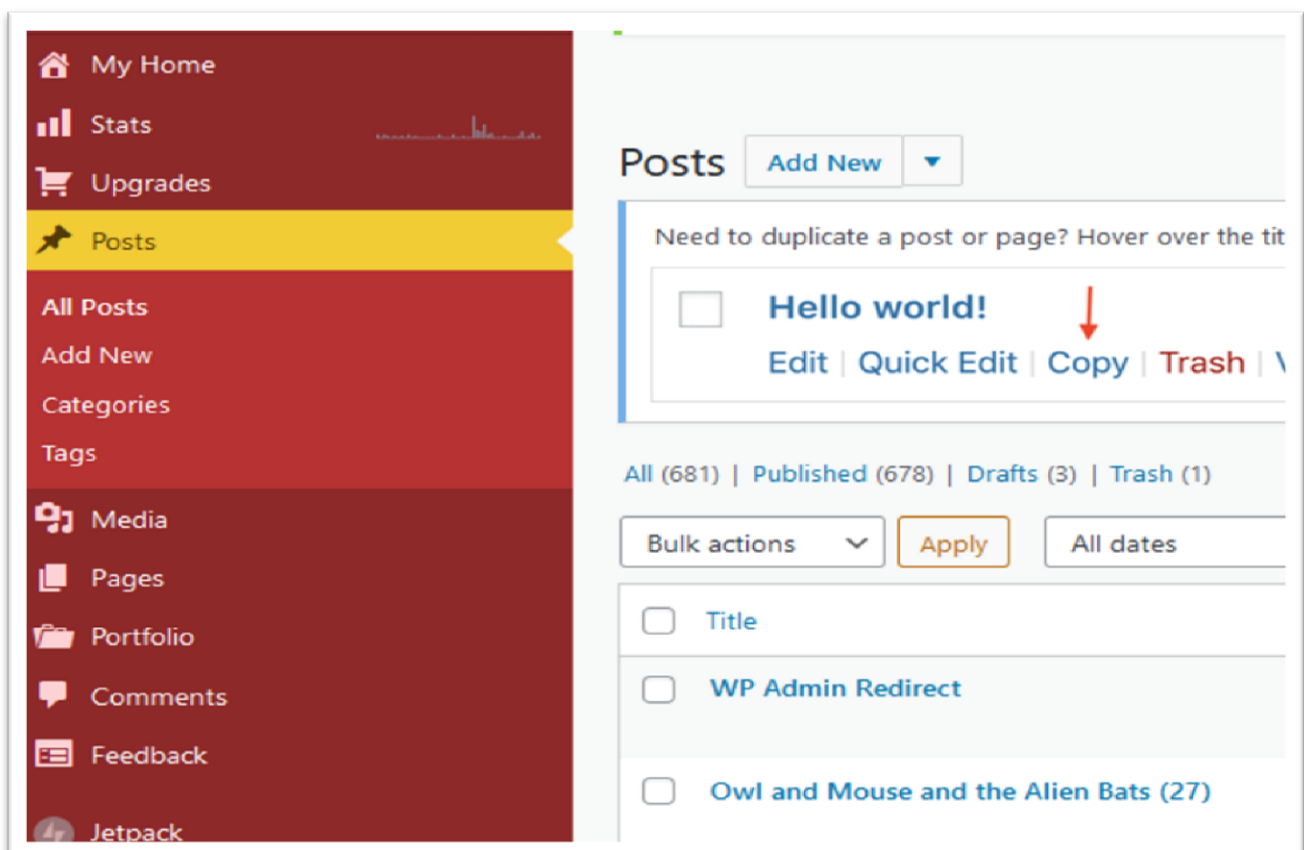

This is the language of the interface you see across WordPress.com as a whole.

Dashboard appearance

Show advanced dashboard pages.
Enabling this will replace your dashboard pages with more advanced wp-admin equivalents when possible. Learn more

Toggle here until solid as above. Refresh the page and your new settings will be saved.

The Admin toolbar will be returned – and when clicking Posts you will see the familiar Admin view of your posts as shown below, and on each device you use.

WP Admin Redirect

Owl and Mouse and the Alien Bats (27)

If the WP Admin link is still present in the sidebar as shown below, then your account has not yet been switched, and your navigation is still the old one - you need not to do anything until the changes have taken place.
